ID: 12721

Congress: 6th International Congress on Child and Adolescent Psychiatry

Title: Effectiveness of family education on parents’ attitude towards drugs

Authors: Younes Fazli1, Mehdi Sarlak2, Hasan Heidari3, Seyede Maryam Alvandi4
1- Graduate Student in Clinical Psychology; Education and training Mahallat City: Email: hamraz@mailfa.org
2- Counseling MA; Education and training Mahallat City
3- Ph.D. in Counseling; Department of Psychology and Counseling, Science and Research Branch, Islamic Azad University of Khomein
4- Microbiology MA; Education and training Mahallat City

Abstract: Introduction
In the field of prevention of drug abuse and psychotropic substances, the development of cultural and educational methods of affirmative action, In this respect, schools can play an important role. Recommended as the most effective way to fight against addiction should be a top priority and further training in educational centers and institutions of higher education in this regard is necessary.

Objectives
The overall objective IS of the study on the effects of family attitudes of parents with substance, Effects of attitudes and attitude towards drugs dangerous.

Method and Materials
The population consisted of parents of secondary school students in city Mahallat is 1391-92 academic year. The sample consisted of 100 parents of students who are selected by simple random sampling, used to design a questionnaire measuring attitude The drug. The parents of the 50 patients in the experimental group were. Family training sessions, will be implemented. To analyze the data obtained from the analysis of covariance was used.

Results
The results of this study showed that is effective parental education, parental attitudes toward drugs, effects and risks of the drug.

Conclusion
One of the most effective ways of raising awareness and knowledge of primary prevention in the field of addiction. Every person is a family sanctuary and comfort. Lack of emotional, conflict and parental drug abuse, illiteracy, low education, and ... Major causes of juvenile delinquency and abuse.

Family education, prevention, substance abuse, attitudes toward drug

Presentation: Poster